Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 26 March 2007.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-5, 7-9, and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. As amended in the response dated 3/26/2007 discloses "pin members" that are considered substantially different than "receptacles." Receptacles may be considered a receiving member, and not necessarily something that protrudes and would be capable of insertion. Thus "pin members" are considered substantially different and are unsupported.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8 and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murray (US Patent 3,960,147).

Murray discloses pliers capable of adjusting a bone plate having two jaws (18/19) that move relative to one another and at least two spaced apart pin members (16/17) that are axially extended to be inserted into bone plates. The pin members have a variable outer diameter, similar to a peg-like shape (see Figs. 3-6, both A and B), and also have a portion that is considered a pressure-exerting element (see drawing below) that creates pressure as the device is used and actuated in squeezing the bone plate.

Further the device is capable of form-fitting to different sized holes, and the pin members extend both substantially parallel or perpendicular, depending on how the device is viewed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over

Art Unit: 3733

Murray '147 in view of Pfefferle et al. (US Patent 6,960,211). Murray disclose the claimed invention except for specifically two types of bone plates. Pfefferle et al. disclose at least two types of bone plates (see Figs. 6A and 6B) wherein each half of the plate could be considered its own plate with a single row of holes. They are also considered at least partially planar.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the device of Murray having at least two types of plates in view of Pfefferle et al. to better cover the fracture area desired and to properly secure the plates (See Col. 2, lines 44-66).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/26/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. As noted above the pin members as amended from receptacles still read on the cited art of record as protruding members that fit into the substantially planar plate. When in use the device would provide a pressure-exerting area and element (this is the area denoted by the arrow as the portion approximately adjacent to item 15 in Figure. 3).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
